THE COMPROMISE.

The People Demand a Settlement.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—An Atchison (Kansas) telegram sent Senator Ingalls to-day urges him to support the report of the Joint committee, saying that the interests of the country demand a speedy settlement of existing complications and tranquility above all things. It was signed by a large number of prominent citizens, irrespective of party.

The Press on the Compromise.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—The Inter-Ocean editorially does not like the compromise on the electoral count. It is simply a roundabout way of tossing up for the price, since on the choice of the fifth judge will probably depend the whole matter. He cannot hardly be chosen, except by lot, as each of the two Republicans will insist on a Republican for the fifth place, and the Democrats for a Democrat. This may be placing the lowest estimates on the characters of the judges, but we have no more confidence in them settling on a political question than in the Senators or Representatives. The Inter-Ocean further mentions the plan as unworthy its origin, wordy and childish.

The Compromise forms the Staple of Conversation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The joint committee compromise bill continues to be the all absorbing topic of conversation here. The Washington newspapers, organs of both parties, denounce it severely, and there are indications that it will encounter greater opposition in Congress than was supposed yesterday. The National Republican calls on the Senate as the bulwark of freedom, to stand by the Constitution and established precedents which gives its presiding officer the right to open certificates and count the votes. A compromise with wrong, says the Republican, means and deserves defeat, and four million of loyal voters will cry out indignantly against the proposed mixed tribunal which means nothing else than making a President by a toss of the penny dice-box arrangement. The Chronicle argues that whether the power of counting the votes belongs to the President of the Senate or is lodged in Congress, this plan is unconstitutional and trifles with the intelligence of the nation.

The Post, Democratic organ, in a two-and-one-half column editorial reviews the bill and arrives at the conclusion that the plan is tantamount to declaring the November election a draw, and ordering a new election by fifteen men instead of by the people. It constitutes a tribunal nominally to decide, virtually to elect.

The Union furthermore opposes the bill on the ground that this unwarrantable compromise is a surrendering of the right of the House to equal and independent voice in deciding what votes shall be counted. Articles like these and similar utterances of partisan newspapers elsewhere are evidently producing considerable effect upon Congressmen; but nevertheless it still seems certain the bill will pass both houses by handsome majorities, as a matter of expediency, although it will be protested against as a matter of principle.

Representative Page says he is unalterably opposed to the bill and he finds no authority in the constitution for the creation of the proposed commission, and is not willing to admit of any doubts being thrown upon the fact that Hayes and Wheeler are already elected. If the Democratic party had cried they had elected Tilden they would not consent to the compromise, and he considers it a very significant circumstance that the Democratic members of the committee propose to confer upon the Supreme Court practically the same controlling power which they mainly expect to be exercised by the Vice President. He therefore believes that either that power belonging three Democratic judges out of the five, or that they are heedless of success except by the arbitrament of chance, and on either supposition it is both the duty and policy of the Republican party to stand firm.

Woodburn says it is perfectly clear that Congress cannot go beyond the constitution and select five men as arbitrators of the Presidential question. All such matters must be settled by Congress itself. The want of constitutional authority for the proposed tribunal was apparent to him from the conceded fact that any or all of the Supreme Court Judges would refuse to receive the appointment, and could not be compelled to act; for he considered the whole proposition a giving way and weakening on the part of the Republicans without justification or necessity.

Piper is not willing to express an opinion concerning the measure until he shall have had time to examine and reflect on it.

Lautrell is non-committal on the subject.

Wigginton regards the bill as seriously objectionable and says he cannot vote for it. He believes the right to determine the validity of the electors' votes is vested in Congress and cannot constitutionally be delegated, and even if such powers were transferred, they should not be delegated without the general consent of the people, which in this instance had not been obtained. He also objected to the bill because it brings the Supreme Court into politics, from which the framers of the constitution intended to keep the judiciary aloof, as the liberty of the people and the perpetuity of the Government depends not only on their purity, but their ability to retain confidence of all parties. Wigginton left for Wisconsin to-night on receipt of a telegram announcing the illness of his children. He expects to be absent about six days, and bring his family to the warmer climate of Washington.

The plan of the joint committee for the determination of the Presidential question continues the prominent theme of conversation. Apart from the gentlemen composing the committee the plan is not enthusiastically received though a number say they will vote for it as a seeming necessity, while others do not appear to have made up their minds on the subject. Some members think the bill ought to be amended, but others say amendments would destroy the prospect of its passage and therefore it would be better to vote upon it as reported.

The World Recedes a Little.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The World, while rather reserved as to its course, says the scheme of the joint committee is a scheme for getting the votes counted with the consent of but a single house of congress; also that so far as the adoption by conference committees of the measure tends to show that unscrupulous managers are not absolute masters of the Republicans in Congress, it is an omen of good and points the way to the only issue out of all our present afflictions, which leads through a complete return to the methods of the constitution, and to the spirit of the men who framed it.

The Settlement is Favored by Business Men.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The electoral bill continues to challenge great diversity of public sentiment, but while a majority of partisans of both sides appear to oppose it, business men generally approve it, because they believe it will render an easy and peaceful settlement of the Presidential muddle so certain as to immediately stimulate the revival of trade.

The Board of Trade Indorse the Compromise.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—A vote was taken to-day at the Board of Trade on the plan of compromise bill. The vote stood in favor of the bill by a small majority.

Edmunds' Speech.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—The Tribune's Washington special says Edmunds' speech was heard with profound attention. It was a clear, compact, constitutional argument without partisanship or passion. At the conclusion he appealed to Senators to consider whether it is just by stimulating doubts or allowing their wishes to outrun their judgment to give the republic over to anarchy. He showed that the first section was practically the Morton bill of last year, and with considerable irony turned to Morton to remind him of the fact. His points are that the purpose of the commission is to decide what is the electoral vote of the State. The election of the congressional part of the commission by viva voce vote renders intrigue impossible. The commission is large enough to prevent possibility of corrupting influences. The judges are chosen according to geographical locality, to guard against any cavilling. The oath makes partisanship impossible. The commission is not to decide a policy or determine a future; it is to pass upon the irrevocable past. Should it fail in its purpose it would destroy the last final hope of civilization and human rights. The commission is to determine whether the electoral vote was cast according to law. He neither affirmed nor denied that the commission had power to go behind the returns. He only said that if Congress had the right then the commission would have it, and that was one of the questions submitted to it. His arguments as to the constitutionality of the bill will attract most attention. He affirmed its constitutionality was without doubt, and maintained it with arguments which the Democrats consider conclusive that the President of the Senate has not the right to count the votes; that no industrious intelligence seen in every other part of the constitution could not have failed to have added the two necessary words, "by him," had the framers of the constitution meant to give the Vice President this power. If that theory is advanced, the monstrous proposition must be conceded, that the Vice President can try and determine the case, and, finally, declare himself President of the United States. The constitution was so framed that the only provision which executes itself was that relating to the capture of slave property. Every other is only executed by Congressional regulations.

The Compromise in the Democratic Caucus.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The Times' Washington special says: In the Democratic Senatorial caucus to-day Senator Stephenson, who presided, made a clear and concise explanation of the various provisions of the proposed measure for the counting of the electors vote from the Democratic standpoint. He argued that the bill was eminently fair to both parties, and one upon which both ought to unite, as a temporary expedient to bridge over the present difficulties. Without being questioned by opponents of the measure at present, he undertook to argue away the various objections raised by some of his party associates. The burden of his argument, or explanation, was directed towards the constitutional objections which have been raised against the measure, presenting as an argument to sustain his assertion that it was constitutional, the theory that the power of supervision over the work of the tribunal, given the two houses of Congress by the bill, would make a declaration of results of the tribunal's labors the constructive, if not the positive act of the two houses of Congress. He also held that the tribunal secured by the bill would act in a semi-ministerial and not in an executive capacity in determining and announcing the results.

Gov. Hendricks' Idea about it.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The World's Indianapolis special says ex-Governor Hendricks was interviewed to-day as to his judgment of the constitutionality and effic ency of the measure reported by the joint Congressional committee on the electoral count. He said: First, I am satisfied that so fair a bill has been reported. It may not satisfy those who demand success in advance, but I think it will be acceptable to the country. Certainly the commissioners may make a proper and righteous decision under it. It will allow such attitude of investigation and judgment as will compel them to decide the right. If, in its present shape, the bill will not allow the commission to consider all matters of evidence as fully as the two houses of Congress could do if considering the questions directly, the necessary amendments can easily be made; but its provisions appear ample in that respect. The commission may deliver a fair decision. It is clothed with powers sufficient to enable it to do so. Whether it does so or not will depend upon the choice of the men who compose it. Being asked to give his opinion upon the constitutionality of the bill, Hendricks said that would require an elaborate discussion too long for the present occasion. The matter is one in which the powers of Congress and the methods in which they should be executed are not definitely prescribed. It may be compared to the admission of States into the Union. The constitution confers power upon Congress to admit new States, but does not prescribe the method in which it is to be exercised. Congress may act through a co-ordinate department of the government, as was recently done in the admission of a State by Presidential proclamation.

You do not regard Congress as abdicating its power then?

Hendricks—Not at all. The power of Congress to count the vote and to decide upon all questions that arise in the progress of the count is exercised directly by itself, and through the agency which it created with final supervision and control by agreement of both houses.

The Herald Compliments Edmunds.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The Herald compliments Edmunds on the clear, calm and forcible manner in which he delivered his speech yesterday. Speaking of the measure it says the wise settlement receives the approbation of the whole nation, outside a few extreme and selfish politicians.

The Times Keeps up its Fire.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The Times editorially says from a constitutional point of view, the position of the Republican party in relation to the count of electoral votes is impregnable. The only possible chance of altering the result of the election turns upon the exercise of an authority at variance with the constitution, and fatal to the rights of the States in matters over which their jurisdiction is within certain limits complete. In our judgment, the bill as it stands will do more harm than good. The evils that may flow from it, far outweigh any possible benefit which it may produce, but in any rate we are entitled to know what its promoters mean with reference to the powers to be vested in the commission.

Connecticut Endorses the Compromise.

HARTFORD, Jan. 20.—The Senate passed a resolution endorsing the compromise plan proposed by the Congressional committee. The House tabled the resolution and made it the special order for Wednesday the 24th.

What are the Prospects?

There are many members of both parties who don't give the bill their unqualified support; then there are members who approve it. All want the subject fully discussed before final action. The general impression is, both houses will agree upon some plan for settling all questions connected with the electoral vote.

A Democratic Amendment Proposed.

A prominent Democrat of the House, while favoring the plan of the joint commission as a basis for settlement of the electoral question, says that he and others of his party will insist on an amendment before giving it their support. The amendment is in the direction of a judicial feature of the bill.

Senator Morton will Make a Speech.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Senator Morton will to-morrow deliver a speech in opposition to the joint committee's bill on the subject of the count of the electoral votes.

Interest Continues.

Intense interest continues to be manifested in the fate of the compromise bill on the subject of the electoral count. The Sunday Herald, while admitting the force of the arguments advanced by the Union and other Democratic journals, nevertheless feels constrained to support it in view of the course taken by the Democratic Representatives on the joint commission, on the ground of expediency, saying: Much as we may regret that the position is not a different one, the field we could have chosen is now out of reach. We can not maintain the lofty vantage ground to which we are entitled, because in doing so our forces would be divided.

Forney's Sunday Chronicle, hitherto the most determined upholder of the doctrine of the exclusive right of the Vice President to count the votes, says to-day, with reference to the agreement of the joint commission, and after lamenting that the Republicans failed to take a proper stand at the outset, it is too late to back out of the compact. It must be fairly tried, and whatever the result probably accepting it.

The Capital, in discussing the bill, says as a matter of principle it has no foundation, moral, legal or constitutional; as a matter of expediency, its only basis is the supposition that it will avert a calamity, which does not impend except in the imaginations of men whose pocket books are stiffer with repetition of bonds than they themselves with back bone.

The Daily Chronicle continues its opposition to the measure.

Morton is announced to speak against it in the Senate to-morrow. The conviction, however, is strengthening to-day that the bill will secure a handsome majority in both Houses, and there is no longer any doubt that President Grant will approve it. Republican members say the bill confers no power on the proposed tripartite tribunal to go behind the State returns, and its only apprehension as to the result is in regard to the Oregon certificates, which the tribunal acting under oath to consider only the constitution and laws may find insufficient to show the appointment of more than two Presidential electors. In this case, of course, the House will have power to elect a President and the Senate to elect a Vice President.

The President will Sign the Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—It is ascertained today that the President has said it is his intention to sign the bill providing for counting the electoral vote, in case it passes both houses of Congress.

POLITICAL.

Finding the Money.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Before the committee on powers, privileges and duties of House Oswin J. Roberts, cashier of the Second National Bank of New York, exhibited two certificates of deposit by Z. Chandler, one for $3,000, the other $2,000, made payable on his own order on return of a certificate. The endorsement reads: "Pay S. B. Packard or order, Z. Chandler."

G. W. Partridge, private secretary of Z. Chandler, produced copies of letters which were privately examined by the committee. Two of the letters were read and put in evidence. They were written by J. B. Stockton, at New Orleans, November 11th, and were to the effect that if stens were taken immediately the affidavits of 1,000 of 2,000 Republican voters could be obtained, showing they were deprived of the exercise of the ballot by violence and intimidation. The writer was chief deputy marshal. He says: "If you could send a trusty person here with funds, or authorize some one to draw for such sum as may be needed to have proper testimony taken throughout the bulldozing parishes, such testimony could be piled up of frauds and outrages as to preclude the possibility of any President taking a seat who was elected by such frauds.

Testimony about Telegrams.

John Brenner, of Augusta, Ga., superintendent of the W. U. T. section testified he was not aware of any messages sent between Florida and Washington or New York; between the 1st and 14th of November, in which money or troops was mentioned. Some cipher messages were sent by Wm. E. Chandler to Gov. Chamberlain from Tallahassee. There were also cipher messages from Senator Patterson to Gov. Chamberlain. Cipher messages were likewise sent by the Secretary of War and Gen. Sherman to the military authorities. Messages to them were generally in cipher; didn't remember a dispatch sent to South Carolina.

Brenner remembered the publication of a message in newspapers saying money and troops would be furnished for Florida, said to have been signed by Z. Chandler. The Democrats of Augusta said they would give money to have the returns carefully watched and telegraphed to different portions of Florida; had seen messages from Howl t and Pelton, some addressed to Manton Marble and John F. Coyle, but could not give their purport.

H. A. Hutchinson, telegraph operator at Tallahassee, testified to a large number of cipher messages received, but had no recollection of a telegram promising money or troops. The committee adjourned.

The Returning Board before the Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Madison Wells, president of the Louisiana returning board was examined by Field, who inquired whether there was not a vacancy in that board, which was not filled, and why? The answer of witness was in the affirmative. He said the vacancy was not filled because the members could not agree upon Kennedy, who was proposed by the Democrats, and a portion of the board objected to him. There were four members acting as a board, all Republicans. They never resolved to reject or accept another person as a member of the board.

Question—Why did you not put the proposition to board? Answer—I did not propose to have the proposition acted upon instantly, but asked the question of the board when they would take action.

Question—Then no vote was ever taken on the admission of Kennedy? Answer—None; it was several days after the board had commenced examining the returns that Zacharie, representing the Democrats, protested against further proceedings unless the vacancy was filled, but the vacancy was not filled.

Witness said the result of the canvass was made a matter of record, and the returns showed the number of votes rejected.

Lawrence objected to further questioning on this point as the subject was matter of record, and as no refusal had been made to inspect the report of the returning board, and to take copies of the record filed. The fact that the record was not here was not the fault of the committee, who had a right by oral inquiry to find out the character, and was perfectly competent to ask what were in those copies.

The committee overruled Lawrence's objections.

Witness had no recollection whether the record he refused to produce showed the whole number of votes cast in Louisiana, and could not recall that he knew a single man who voted contrary to his wishes because of intimidation.

Field said witness was refusing to answer categorical questions, and he would move to report the matter to the House.

Gen. Anderson testified—The reason why Kennedy was not appointed to the vacancy was not on account of his not being a gentleman, but because members disagreed. Witness favored filling the vacancy. Two-thirds of the votes rejected were Democrats. Many affidavits of fraud were made in New Orleans, but most were sworn to outside the city. All rejected votes were, when the board obtained them, accompanied by affidavits of intimidation, fraud, etc. He thought Kellogg got 7,500 and McEnery 11,000 votes. Adjourned.

A Forgery Denounced.

Secretary Chandler denounces as a deliberate forgery the following alleged dispatch, which has been repeatedly published, none such having ever been written or sent by him:

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.

To Governor Stearns:—Hold Florida for Hayes and Wheeler. Money and troops will be sent you. (Signed) Z. CHANDLER.

The Surrendered Dispatches.

The World's Washington special says the surrendered dispatches number 3,000, many of which are of no public interest.

Bringing the Two Governments to Washington.

The World's New Orleans correspondent says there is an apparently well authenticated report that Packard, Antoine, Nichols and Wiltz have been summoned to Washington.

A Rather Serious Mistake.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The House in holding the Louisiana returning board in contempt for failing to produce the returns of the late election, acted on the mistaken assumption that the board still holds the returns. It now appears that by law the returns are in the custody of the Secretary of State who, it is anticipated, will surrender them to the Senate committee, by advice of Sherman and others, who believe their production will strengthen Hayes' claim to the State.

Senatorial Caucus.

Republicans of the Senate had a caucus this forenoon on the joint commission bill for counting the electoral vote. The bill is not to be made the subject of final caucus action.

Democrats also Caucus.

Democratic Senators had a similar caucus. Nothing was said in opposition to the bill.

Disappointed by Success.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—It is believed the House was disagreeably disappointed by the surrender of the Western Union executive committee against whom it would not have proceeded to extremities. There will be music when the Tilden side of the dispatches are disclosed. The mail will be dry as in Chandler's case, and it is expected to show who issued the instructions to keep the State in doubt and who wanted to buy an elector.

Mississippi Bull-dozing.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Senate elections committee heard Merriman Howard (colored) of Fayette, Mississippi, former member of the Mississippi legislature. He was three times sheriff of his county, but had been ousted by the Democrats under pretense of fraud. Intimidation was frequent, and he considered his life endangered should he return home.

Richards, colored lawyer from Claiborne parish) testified to armed organizations which prevented Leach, Republican, from addressing a Republican meeting, to fraudulent Democratic registration which disfranchised 1,000 negroes, and to general intimidation.

Libby, a lawyer of Yazoo county, testified that the change in the vote of the State was due to a change in the negroes' opinions; never witnessed any intimidation.

Ohio New Issue.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—The Tribune's Washington special says: The Republican members of David Davis' Field's committee are about to investigate some frauds themselves, and have information showing last money was sent to Ohio from New York for the purpose of carrying that State for Tilden, by Tilden's New York managers. They have subpœnaed Jordan, cashier of the Third National Bank of New York; Smith Weed and John G. Burt, of New York; Theodore Stanwood, cashier of the First National Bank of Cincinnati; H. Covly, cashier National Bank of Cincinnati; John McClean, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and Messrs Faxton and Sage, of Cincinnati. The amount about which enquiry is to be made is $7,000.

Meeting of the National Democrats.

The national Democratic executive committee will not meet any of the full committee February 2d. If the compromise bill passes, the committee is to call a national convention.

Parliamentary Pleasantry.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Willis having concluded his speech in the House, Tarbox began a political speech, when Wilson, of Iowa, made a point that the gentleman must confine himself to the Indian appropriation bill, the subject before the House. The Chairman decided against Wilson holding that Tarbox in his speech might make reference to the bi-laundry commission.

Banks upheld the decision, saying no one could tell but that Tarbox might suggest in his speech to refer the whole Presidential question to a council of chiefs of the Indian tribes. This support of the chair was greeted with great laughter.

Chittenden further entertained the House by characterizing as nonsense the great effort of Willis.

Hoar Elected Senator.

BOSTON, Jan. 9.—George F. Hoar was elected to the U. S. Senate on the 55th ballot for U. S. Senator.

BOSTON, Jan. 10.—On the 7th ballot for Senator to-day, Hoar gaining but a few votes of an election, the interest became intense. Changes ensued from Boutwell to Hoar, and from Rice to Bowles; the remaining votes for Abbott. The votes as finally announced stood: Total votes 278, Hoar 140, Boutwell 47, Abbott 72, Rice 19, scattering 9.

The Triumph of Honesty.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Hoar's election to the Senate is an unequivocal defeat of the Butler and Collector Simmons wing of the Republican party, both of them having labored industriously for its defeat. Failing of any encouragement to the effort to have Simmons accepted. But encouragement to the effort to have Simmons accepted. But encouragement to the effort to have Simmons accepted. But

MONDAY MORNING, JAN. 22, 1877.

THE THIRD AND POSSIBLY THE LAST COUNT IN FLORIDA.

The supreme court of Florida could not be expected to be satisfied with the recanvass made by the returning board under the court's order. Under ordinary circumstances a simple and literal compliance with the orders of court is deemed sufficient and satisfactory; but this Florida case is not an ordinary one. It is extraordinary in that a count in accordance with the first order of the court failed to produce the result intended by the order. The court apparently had been misled by somebody or other into supposing that a canvass of the votes in the manner designated would show a majority for Tilden, and of course, all the requirements of the court would be satisfied as soon as a count was made which gave the State to that glorious reformer. But, as we said before, somebody had abused the confidence of the court. The count was made, and it did not give Tilden the requisite majority. On the contrary, it gave Hayes a majority of 200 votes, nearly as large a majority as he had on the count made by the returning board before the supreme court came upon the stage in its character of Democratic bull-dozer. It was a disappointment, and the supreme court naturally cast about for some means of making the count come out as they had expected. The only possible expedient was a third count on some new basis. Having all the other counts for reference and information, it was not difficult to devise a plan which would produce the desired result. So they have had a third count, and Tilden, instead has the decision. His majority is 25. This not a large majority, and we should think as Randy as not, he would not be pleased with it; and in that case there will probably be a fourth count about the 1st of February, which will give him the State by a respectable majority, a majority large enough at least to raise a prima facie presumption that if the bull-dozed votes were thrown out he would still have a majority.

MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICANISM.

The Massachusetts Legislature has elected Geo. F. Hoar to the United States Senate over Boutwell, the present incumbent, by an overwhelming vote. This is about as strong an endorsement by the old Bay State, of the plan to settle the electoral squabble, as could be given. Mr. Hoar was one of the House members of the joint committee and signed the report. Before that the contest between Hoar and Boutwell was very close, several ballots having been taken, in all but one of which Boutwell received a few more votes than Hoar. The election of Hoar is a triumph also of sound politics and honest methods over the machine methods. Boutwell is one of the least bad of the Republican politicians of whom Butler is the leading representative in Massachusetts, but he was backed by the whole following of the ring crowd, including the Butler editors, who to a large extent control moderate Republicanism. Butler himself, it was reported, and doubtless truly, was an industrious opponent of Hoar; and it is reported when he found it was vain to press Boutwell's name further, and that his own could not be substituted, he then endeavored to unite the Republicans on Gov. Rice, who though by no means such a man as Butler, would have been far more acceptable to him than Hoar. But his influence went for nothing, as did also that of a cabinet minister, who, according to a Washington dispatch, telegraphed the Republicans early in the balloting, that Boutwell's re-election was of the utmost importance. Deaf alike to the entreaties of the Essex statesman and the appeal of the cabinet functionary, the Republicans of Massachusetts proceeded to choose the man who is most fit at the present juncture to sit in the seat of Charles Sumner.

EXIT MURTAGH.

President Grant does sometimes hear the voice of the people, despite the din kept up around him by the hangers-on with which his administration has been cursed. His reappointment of Murtagh as a member of the Washington City police commission and as chairman of the board, raised a breeze among the respectable sort of Republicans, and caused no little outspoken condemnation. Our exchanges now coming to hand show that the reappointment of Murtagh called for the same unsparing criticism from the leading Republican and independent papers at the East which it received from the Democratic, and the effect of their censure is told in the Washington dispatch which we publish this morning, stating that Murtagh's resignation is accepted. That is the way they put it when the President has to ad an officer who holds at the President's will that his resignation is wanted, and it is accordingly handed in. The President has done wisely in getting rid of this fellow. His conduct in connection with the Whitthorne matter, if the testimony of the witnesses is true (and he does not seem inclined to contradict it), was simply infamous. His criminality was of a character so disgusting as almost to make one lose all other appreciation of its vileness in the one emotion of disgust. The President has done wisely and well in sending him adrift. We noted with pain his holding on to him after the disgusting disclosure referred to, and now we note with pleasure the recognition by the President of the right of the people to demand that some regard be paid to their sense of decency.

Senator Edmunds, in his great speech Saturday, on the Presidential election bill, disposes of the objection as raised to it on constitutional grounds, in a clear, forcible and logical manner. There are some who have their minds thoroughly made up that the President of the Senate is invested by the constitution with full and exclusive power to count the electoral votes, and by necessary implication, to determine all contests and objections. These will hardly change their opinions on reading Senator Edmunds' argument. But with such as are not already fully persuaded, either from having carefully examined the subject, or from having resolved not to be convinced by reason, the logic of the speech will not fail to have great influence. He purposely avoids the question whether it is competent to go behind returns of the States, but inquires simply whether the President of the Senate is the counting power, or whether it is for the two houses of Congress to pass upon disputed votes.

The small politicians whom God, in his inscrutable providence, has permitted to buy and lie their way into Congress, are opposed to any plan of settling the Presidential contest, except to bull-doze it through at the risk of disrupting the nation. They have appropriate backing in the columns of the National Republican, which, the dispatches inform us, is violently opposed to the bill for settlement. The National Republican is presided over by W. J. Murtagh, of police commission notoriety.

AMUSEMENTS.

DRAMATIC SEASON CLOSED.—Saturday evening the brief theatrical season, inaugurated several weeks ago at New Market Theater under the management of Mr. Sawtelle, with Miss Annie Firmin and Mr. Jack as stellar attractions, supported by a dull company, came to a close at Oro Fino Theater. At matinee the "Hidden Hand" was re-acted to a large house, and in the evening "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl, or Death at the Wheel," was presented to a crowded auditorium. Concluding a very enjoyable entertainment was the ludicrous farce of "A Prima Donna for an Hour." With the exception of a few nights, when the weather proved stormy and other causes conspired to make the houses light, the business was uniformly good, and the financial results of the season are quite substantial. Although the aggregate receipts are not so large as could be desired, yet the management has no reason to feel dissatisfied, especially in view of the many disadvantages—bad weather and counter attractions. On the contrary he should be congratulated on the pecuniary success attending the season. During their brief sojourn in this city Miss Firmin and Mr. Jack have created a very favorable impression on the public mind. They have made a host of warm friends, whose best wishes attend them on their future undertakings. These artists express unqualified satisfaction at the result of their engagement here, and also the cordial welcome extended them by the lovers of the drama. We understand that Mr. Jack proposes to lease New Market theater in the course of a month or two, providing satisfactory arrangements can be effected, and contemplates bringing a large and first class theatrical company to this city. This, we feel assured, will be welcome news to the amusement loving portion of our citizens. This morning the whole company will leave for the Sound and Victoria to play a brief season. To-night the troupe will appear at Olympia in the "Two Orphans."

REMONSTRANCE.

The following remonstrance against the adoption of Senate Bill No. 1,076 has been circulated and numerously signed. The remonstrance will explain itself:

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled:

We, the undersigned citizens and residents of the United States along the Columbia river in the State of Oregon and Territory of Washington, would most respectfully represent to your honorable bodies:—

That your remonstrators are among the pioneer settlers of the State of Oregon and have taken up and improved land claims along the Columbia river, and for many years have resided upon such land claims for the sole purpose of engaging in the fishing trade upon said river.

That the salmon accustomed to run in said river are of several distinct varieties, and their annual runs are at different seasons of the year, according to the kind and variety thereof; each of such variety or kind being of various sizes and weights when fully matured.

That for many years a few of your remonstrators have been accustomed to take each several kinds of salmon in stationary traps or weirs, placed along the banks of said river, opposite their said land claims, at all seasons of the year, which occupation, in connection with such fish as they have been accustomed to take with nets, has been, and is their sole and only means of support, and without the privilege of taking fish as aforesaid the business of fishing on several parts of the river would be entirely valueless, and the improvements made for this purpose would become worthless.

That the variety of salmon running during the fall and winter months, steelheads and silversides, although small in size and of a different variety, are equally desirable for food as the spring salmon, but they can not be run in schools, and are, necessarily, taken in small quantities, and being smaller in size, with a finer mesh net, which have been constructed at great cost, and are adapted to fall and winter fishing; and if your remonstrators were prevented from using them, it is said nets, they would not be able to procure those of a different size for use the coming season, and thus not only lose the property already on hand, but be prevented from engaging in such business the coming season. That the canneries engaged in canning salmon along the said river take and can only the spring salmon, which run in the months of May, June and July, and in vast quantities. That companies during said months employ a great quantity of nets and boats, as well as a large number of men, and follow such business only during the months aforesaid, but that other parties rely for their support not on any on the spring salmon, but on the other kind and runs of salmon to obtain a livelihood by taking for their own consumption and sale to other consumers of fresh salmon such fish as are to be taken at all seasons of the year.

Your remonstrators further represent that any law regulating the fisheries of the Columbia river in Oregon and the Territory of Washington ought of right to apply equally to all the rivers of the Pacific coast, for the reason that salmon enter all such rivers in like manner, and the restrictions upon any one of them would only tend to create a monopoly in the others.

The number of stationary traps or weirs on the Columbia river are as follows: Four traps in the vicinity of Oak Point, 40 miles up the river from Astoria. The seines used are very limited, there being only five in the river between the bar and Portland. Two of these are at Chinook, W.T., one at Harrington's Point, W.T., one at Woody Island, Oregon, and the other some place near the mouth of the Willamette river. These means of catching salmon are very insignificant. The traps are generally owned by poor men; at the above points, who are among the early pioneers of the State and have been employed in catching fish in small quantities by these traps for a good many years. Some years, when the river rise above its ordinary high water during freshets they lose their traps and do not derive much benefit from them, though built at an expense of from $300 to $900. These traps and seines are not considered to be of any importance as far as protection of salmon is considered, not even by the most zealous advocates of protection to our salmon.

The magnitude of the fisheries of the Columbia river can be shown in a few figures taken from reliable data, the Astorian of January 6, 1877: 423,000 cases and 4,815 barrels of salmon have been shipped from this river in the last year. And now in reference to the time of fishing in the river for the different varities of salmon. The nets and their meshes and the size thereof is what your remonstrators want most earnestly to lay before you. First, the season for spring salmon commences when the salmon come into the river, which is about the 15th of April some years, and at others not until the 1st of May. The weather has all to do with the commencing of the season. The season lasts until the 1st of August, but at times, like the commencing, it ends on or about the 25th of July. After this date it don't pay to fish, as the run is nearly over. In October or thereabouts there is a run of silver-sides and dog salmon, which are an inferior article, and are only used by parties who are partial to fresh salmon, and a good many are smoked and salted.

The general size of the mesh used on the Columbia river for spring fishing is 8½-inch mesh—that is, from one corner to the other when drawn taut. Now, the greatest difference of opinion seems to be in reference to the size of the meshes used in fishing, but this comes from parties who are not fishermen, and who never have seen one solitary salmon taken from the meshes of a net. It would not be profitable for a fisherman to make a net less than 8½ inches, and not over nine, though a net constructed with a mesh 10 inches would actually catch more large fish than the 9, and the 8 inch meshes don't catch many large fish, while 8½ inch meshes catch just as many small ones and a good many larger. By this it will be seen that the difference in the size of the meshes will have very little to do with the protection of the salmon in the future.

In conclusion, your remonstrators would further recommend, that the commissioner of fish be instructed to send a competent person to visit the State of Oregon and the fisheries on the Columbia river, and make such arrangements as he may deem proper for the propagation of fish in the waters of the Columbia river, and we as fishermen and canners pledge ourselves to pay the expenses of the establishment by a self-imposed tax, on the parties employed in fishing and packing on this river, and we further pledge ourselves that if there is prompt action taken in the matter, so that a hatching or breeding station be established during the canning season, that $25,000 can be raised to carry on the enterprise. This is the only protection we want for the future prosperity of this important business, and we are as solicitous about our fisheries as the farmer is about his land and crops. And for these reasons we would respectfully remonstrate against the adoption of Senate bill No. 1,076, or the passage of any law preventing your remonstrators from taking fish from the Columbia river at any particular time, or in any particular manner, whether by means of traps, weirs, seines, or nets of any description, but that they shall reserve the right to fish in such a manner and by such means, as to your remonstrators shall seem meet, and your remonstrators will ever pray.

NOT FOR THE RIGHT REMEDY.

Mr. G. T. Reed, who considers himself the individual alluded to in an item headed "Remedy Needed," which appeared in our issue of the 10th, writes us a letter which he alleges to be in response to the charges contained in that article, though what the question of the necessary "recreation" of sailors, the "freedom of our atmosphere," Mr. Reed's "claims for commission, etc." have to do with the affair is rather difficult for us to see. But we give Mr. Reed's letter; he says:

There is no "little game" played in my saloon. I can bring proofs that I have refused sailors whenever I have seen that they were the worse intoxicated, and I never allow any sailor to run a bill with me if I know he has been anywhere else, because I know what the law is both here and in Europe.

After four or five months sailing, sailors want to have a little recreation the same as a captain, and spend their time and money in a jolly manner, both of which are limited. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. I venture to say that the conduct of the sailors will compare favorably with the most of the captains. If fish or meat be the cause of the complaint, I can refer you to the ships that come to this port. If they wish to "make the British sailor a slave right on England's bulwarks, the story is departed, and the sooner they expunge slave from the marine statute book the better, as the moment they arrive here their shackles will fall, such is our atmosphere."

I have many cases against captains in reference to commission, etc., but I wish to carry out the good old principle, not to be vindictive and that a still tongue shows a wise head. If the captains will act honorably to their sailors and treat them as freemen, they will never have any trouble, either in this port or elsewhere, but if they treat them as mere machines, the free atmosphere of Oregon will act so as to cause a disperson of those vital elements (the jolly tars) not only now but for all time.

In conclusion, I wish to add, that the captain had two days notice before coal proceedings were taken. G. T. R.

There was a continual rush of visitors to Zabre's on Sunday.

Captains and pilots will note the fact that Peter Wilhelm has fitted up two rooms for their especial use at the Fountain, corner Ash and First streets. English papers on file, and everything cosy.

NOTES FROM THE DALLES.

Under date of January 19th, "Nod" sends us these notes from The Dalles:

It snowed here Wednesday morning.

The public school is in a prosperous condition.

"Silver mud springs fever has apparently subsided.

No houses to rent in The Dalles now, a sure sign of prosperity.

The "Pioneer Hotel" will be enlarged and refitted in the spring.

The Dalles has two brass bands, of nine and six instruments respectively.

It is proposed to purchase new fire apparatus for the department here.

J. C. Ainsworth and C. E. Tilton were in the city day before yesterday.

Captain James Troupe is now running on the steamer Idaho, learning the river.

The new boat of the O. S. N. Co. is progressing finely; bad weather hinders not work.

J. B. Condon, Esq., is in poor health; not Prof. Condon, as previously by me reported.

The M. E. Church has meetings every day at 2 o'clock and 6½ P. M., Rev. E. Hawn, pastor.

The "old, yet ever new" Chinese question, was wrestled with by the debating society recently organized.

Mrs. Miller, with her daughter and son, of Oregon City, are residing here, rightly believing ours a healthy climate.

Some farmers think crops have suffered somewhat in the county, though there are as yet no serious apprehensions of a diminished yield. Cattle fat and doing finely.

It was rumored that W. P. Watson had a $30,000 contract for furnishing artificial stone on the Cascades locks; no definite authentic proof of this dubious statement obtained, however.

The burglar excitement is dying out. The last burglary was on Monday night, at the residence of H. Sansbury, corner Fourth and Washington streets. Nothing valuable taken. Burglars escaped.

Mr. Woolery, residing on Fifteen Mile creek "went and got married" on the 17th and the boys gave him a rousing reception. Bouquets, cans, and bootjacks were showered down indiscriminately upon the hungry, disappointed songsters.

Relief Without a Doctor.

Though we would by no means be understood as deprecating, but rather as recommending, professional aid in disease, there are multitudes of instances when it is neither necessary or easy to obtain. A family provided with a comprehensive household specific like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is possessed of a medicinal resource adequate to most emergencies in which medical advice would be otherwise needful. That sterling tonic and corrective invariably remedies, and is authoritatively recommended for debility, indigestion, liver disorders an irregular habit of body, urinary and uterine troubles, incident rheumatism and gout, and many other ailments of frequent occurrence. It eradicates and prevents intermittents and remittent fevers, relieves mental despondency, checks premature decay, and invigorates the nervous and muscular tissues. Sleep, digestion and appetite are promoted by it, and it is extremely useful in overcoming the effects of exhaustion and exposure.

Sozodont.

All Dentifrices had their drawbacks, until the salubrious bark of the Soap Tree was brought from the Chilian valleys to perfect the fragrant SOZODONT, the most wholesome, reliable and delightful article for the teeth that a brush was ever dipped into.

Medical Men who have witnessed the healing and purifying action of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP upon the skin, pronounce it an excellent specific for scorbutic eruptions, and one of the most efficacious deodorizers and disinfectants.

We received a very pleasant letter of thanks from our old friend Kendall, since his return home, for a bottle of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment which we gave him, and which he says has entirely cured him of the troublesome and dangerous cough he had when here.

On the death of one of England's most eminent physicians, all his effects were sold at auction, and among other things was a sealed packet, marked "Advice to Physicians," which brought a great price. The purchaser on opening the packet, read as follows: "Keep the head cool, the bowels open and the feet warm." If physic is necessary, use Parsons' Purgative Pills—they are the most scientifically prepared pill that has appeared in the last hundred years.

The People Want Proof.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians or sold by druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtues as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP, for severe Coughs, Colds, settled on the Breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying. Large regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that use it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Agents, Crane & Brigham, Wholesale Druggists, San Francisco.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM preserves and restores the complexion; removes freckles, tan and sallowness; makes the skin soft, white and delicate. Its application cannot be detected.

LYON'S KATHAIRON makes beautiful, glossy, luxuriant hair; prevents its falling out or turning gray. It has stood the test of 40 years. Is charmingly perfumed; and has no rival.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Ice Breaking Up in the Potomac.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The ice in the Potomac broke up last night, doing great damage; sank two or three schooners, several tug boats and a number of scows, laden and unladen. Heavy, massive ice in shore lifted two schooners out of the river and landed them high and dry on the wharf, and tore others from their moorings and forced them upon the flats, crushed and wrecked. The Georgetown college boat house and adjoining houses of the boat clubs and all the wharfs were more or less damaged.

The Woman Suffrage Amendment.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Sargent presented a petition of male and female residents of California asking the adoption of the sixteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States to prevent the disfranchisement of persons on account of sex. Referred to committee on privileges and elections. In presenting the petition, Sargent said the influence of women at the polls would purify elections and give us a better class of public officials, and the State would be benefited by conferring the right of suffrage upon women; the movement was growing year by year, and had already passed the period of ridicule, both in this country and England.

Vancouver Water Co.'s Bill.

The President has signed the bill authorizing the Vancouver Water Co. to lay pipes across the military reservation.

Let them Off.

WASHINGTON, Jan 20.—The executive committee of the W. U. T. Co. has been released by the committee on powers and privileges of the House in counting the electoral vote. The House committee and Senate committee have appointed a sub-committee to arrange for receiving from President Orton the required telegrams, many of whom are already in Washington.

Mr. Orton Discharged.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—In the House, Hunton from the judiciary committee, reported a resolution discharging Orton from custody. Adopted without division.

The Railway Sinking Fund Bill.

The Senate railroad committee to-day had under consideration Gordon's bill for the settlement of treasury accounts with Pacific railroads, and have so amended it as to require companies to start a sinking fund at once with a million dollars paid in, and not less than $250,000 annually until the whole amount is paid, at interest at six per cent.

The Nineteenth Amendment.

The Times Washington special says: The woman suffragists to-day matured a 16th amendment, giving women the rights of citizenship. They have petitions from 36 States. A hundred delegates are present, including Mrs. Stanton and Phebe Cozzens.

Indian Affairs.

The committee on Indian affairs sub-committee reported a bill recommended by the Sioux commission, providing for the removal of the Sioux to Indian Territory, but the commission voted to recommit with instructions to report bill striking out that portion providing for transfer.

More Cruelty.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The Commissioner of Education, Everett having by letter called the attention of the Secretary of the Treasury to the extensive manufacturing of opium in certain districts, Bristow said the difficulty in enforcing the revenue laws there, the sole act was considered at an end but missing and the letter received the following endorsements:

"Referred to the Secretary of War, who will direct that the commanders of troops in the opium districts be instructed to give all aid necessary to enable the revenue officials to search out, arrest and arrest violators of the revenue laws. J. S. GRANT."

"Respectfully referred to the General of the Army, who will issue such instructions to the commander of the department of the South as will secure all the services of the President's requirements. D. CAMERON."

Out goes Murtagh again.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The resignation of W. J. Murtagh, member of the police board has been accepted by the President. Ira G. Kimball was appointed in his place.

Postal Changes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The following postal changes are announced for the Pacific coast: Postmasters appointed—Peter P. Gates, St. Joseph, Yamhill county, Oregon.

Another Small Loan.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—It is expected the Treasury will soon issue another call for $10,000,000 of U. S. bonds.

The Morrison Committee at Home.

The Morrison committee have returned from New Orleans, and will resume their session in Washington to-morrow morning.

Items of the Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill reported to the House contains the following Pacific coast items: San Francisco mint—wages of workmen and operators, $50,000; clerk and expenses and material, $75,000; salary of superintendent, $4,000; assayer, melter and coiner, $3,000 each; cashier, clerk, $2,250; $2,000 each; weigher, $1,600 each. The subtreasury salaries are all reduced, the total appropriation being only $21,250; $1,000 is taken off the salaries whenever a pay and ten per cent. from all salaried notes. Carson mint—salaries, $22,000; wages, $60,000; incidental expenses, $25,000.

The bill reduces Territorial salaries to $2,500 for governor and judge of supreme court, and $1,000 for secretary's salary. Pacific coast surveyor-generals are reduced to $2,500 for California, Nevada and Idaho; $2,250 for Oregon and Washington, and $2,750 for other Territories; allowance for clerks in California, $3,000; Oregon, Washington and Arizona, $2,000 each; New Mexico, $1,000; Nevada, Utah, Idaho and Montana, $2,500 each. All these reductions, if agreed to through the House, will be strenuously resisted by the Senate.

Hoyt, Ben Holladay has a Job.

The Senate claims committee have favorably reported a bill authorizing Col. Ben Holladay to bring suit in Court of Claims for property used by troops, depredations by Indians and damages and expenses incurred in changing the mail route by order of the U. S. military, while contractor for carrying overland mails for six years between the Missouri river and Salt Lake. The committee base their favorable report upon the exceptional circumstances of the case and say it must not be regarded as a precedent for allowance of claims wherein these peculiar reasons for government liabilities are absent.

Utah will not be Admitted.

The report that progress making in efforts to obtain the admission of Utah as a State into the Union appears unfounded. A large majority of the House committee on Territories in charge of Cannon's bill, are opposed to it, and there is no chance whatever of its being reported this Congress.

T. J. Black, manager of the farmers' store at Halsey, was arrested last week for forgery. The Democrat says: "The forgery which it was alleged Black committed was very clumsily done. A note drawn in favor of Eawley, Dodd & Co., of Portland, had been tampered with so that when it was presented for payment it called for several hundred dollars more than it did originally."

The Albany Democrat says: "The extra freight train which has been running for several months was taken off some time last week, and the consequence was that a great deal of freight accumulated at this point. Last Sabbath a locomotive came up and took away about thirty cars which were loaded with wheat and flour from this city."

Business is lively at Hood River: farmers busily engaged; new dwelling houses being erected. A large new mill and planer will soon be in operation. A new ditch company organized will soon be at work, called the Water Supply Company o' Hood river. Dr. Barrett, president, and C. F. Backus, secretary.

THE TERRITORIES.

The Arizona Legislature, following after the example of Washington Territory, has just elected two ladies as clerks.

Mrs. Sand's little boy, when at Seattle, a few days ago, in playing with other boys, had one of his eyes put out with a stick.

The House of Representatives, at Boise City, had a young lady for engrossing clerk. She engrossed the attention of many of the members.

Burglars went through several houses, stores, offices, etc., at Silver City, last week, and succeeded in getting away with considerable plunder.

There is a woman on the Mount Jefferson Pass who has cleared 80 acres of land for herself and children, and has almost finished her log cabin.

A sketch artist by the name of John Maguire is advertised at Vancouver. He has a letter of recommendation from the late General Custer.

Westly Wood, of Idaho City, who was killed in a railroad accident a few days ago in Indiana, was on his way to take Christmas dinner with his parents. He was a very worthy and exemplary young man.

The first manufacture of tobacco in Washington Territory has just began at Elhi, Pierce county, by Mr. T. F. Patton. The weed was grown by Mr. Patton and is being put up by him in the shape of Black Strap tobacco.

The telegraph operator at LaConner, A. R. Gilliland, lost both of his children on Sunday night, the 14th inst. They died of spotted fever, or cerebro-spinal meningitis, a generally fatal complaint, which has not been previously known in section.

The proposed new Territory of Huron contains about 60,000 square miles and 10,000 inhabitants. It is the northern half of Dakota, and is said to embrace one of the best farming regions in the United States. The bill to create the Territory has already passed the Senate.

The hop growers of the Puyallup are delighted with the prospect of a railroad along the valley before the next crop is ready for market, as the wet weather and bad roads occasioned great inconvenience and serious loss in delivering the last crop at Tacoma. Many of the bales were badly injured in consequence of being dampened.

Mr. N. Olsen, an esteemed citizen of Pacific county, W. T., was drowned on Wednesday of last week as he was leaving Gray's river in a fishing boat for Astoria. The boat and his hat were found near the mouth of Deep creek—the body has not been recovered. Mr. Olsen was aged about 40 years, and leaves a family on the Gray's river settlement.

In trying to make Port Blakely last Wednesday, the bark Oak Hill, from San Francisco, made a miss of it, and, instead, was blown on the point at the mouth of Eagle Harbor, She went on at high water, and well up the beach at that, so much so, in fact, that the tug Blakely found it impossible to haul her off at high water. She will probably have to be lightened by the discharge of her ballast and floated off with tanks or barrels. No damage is known to have occurred to her by her grounding.

By order of M. W. Platt A. Preston, Grand Master of Masons, a dispensation was issued through the office of the grand secretary, on the 16th inst., for the formation of a new lodge at Dayton, Columbia county, W. T., under the name of Columbia Lodge, No. James E. Edmiston has been appointed Worshipful Master, Bro. Sylvester K. Waite, Senior Warden, and Bro. Samuel G. Ellis, Junior Warden. This new lodge organizes with a membership of eighteen Master Masons, with very flattering prospects for future success and permanency.

The Seattle Dispatch says: "Three of the fastest sailing vessels ever built in America are now on the way to Puget Sound, two for lumber and one for coal. The two first are the bark Forest Queen and the ship Dashing Wave, bound for Tacoma and Port Ludlow, respectively. The coal ship is bound for this port, being no other than the renowned ship Western Shore, which made two trips from San Francisco in 101 and 104 days, and one from Liverpool to San Francisco in 110. We would like to see the whole three turn loose at Point Wilson together, going down."

German Politics.

FRANKFORT, Jan. 19.—Herr Holtof, elected to Parliament, was a candidate of the Democrats. He had 3,000 majority over the National Liberal candidate.

A Postmaster between Spain and China.

HONGKONG, Jan. 19.—The German minister at Peking is mediating in relation to the unsettled claims between Spain and China. In the meantime the Spanish minister has returned to Peking.

France and Germany.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The Republique Francais publishes a letter which states that work on the fortifications at Metz and Strasbourg, is being pushed forward to completion with the utmost haste, and provisions are arriving. The Temps, however, discredits the alarming inferences which the Republique seeks to draw.

A Great Land Slide Obstructs a Railway.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Standard's Vienna dispatch announces that communication between Trieste and Vienna has been interrupted three days by a tremendous land slide. Some 80,000 cubic meters of rock and earth fell on the railway track and into the river, destroying the road and blocking up the river. Two houses containing families were overwhelmed, and the inmates are still buried.

German Consulates in the United States.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—The government has decided to abolish all honorary consulates in the United States, in favor of paid officials, the consulate general at New York and the consulate at San Francisco excepted.

Germany and France.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—A Paris dispatch says the recent hostile opinion of the German press caused a very serious impression there. French journals advocate a strict attitude of non-interference in regard to foreign affairs. They deny that any extraordinary measures of army organization are on foot.

The Standard's Paris dispatch says the recent killing of a German sailor by some French seamen at Smydin is magnified by the Germans into an international difficulty. The French government has ordered an inquiry and will give every satisfaction. The affair is the result of a drunken brawl.

The Post's Berlin dispatch states that the feeling of resentment against the French because of her supposed hostility at the Constantinople conference continues unabated, both in official circles and among the general public.

The New Cardinals.

A telegram to the Daily News from Rome says the Pope privately notified four Italians, two French, two Spanish and two Austrian ecclesiastics that they are to be nominated cardinals at the next consistory.

All agree that next summer will be very lively and profitable to the people of Douglas county. In Roseburg fifty new houses will be put up, and in the county the grain and wool crop will be larger than ever known before. This pleasing prospect is encouraging to all.

The Oregon and California Railroad Company will commence sinking a shaft on the coal vein near Comstock's mill, and will continue work until they find a vein sufficiently large to satisfy all demands. From this vein the Company hopes to supply all Oregon.

The clear cold weather seems to have little effect on business affairs generally, unless it be rather to retard movements, and make duller what has been dull most of the time since the new year began. In monetary circles the complaint is of the somewhat limited demand which is now prevailing for loanable funds. This inquiry is too small at present to give capitalists the command of the market which they would like, but rates are still steadily maintained.

There is not much activity as yet in the general trade in imported merchandise, though some improvement is noted. In domestic products, there is a tolerably active inquiry for nearly all commodities with a falling off in receipts of breadstuffs, increased supplies of provisions, and a fair trade in dairy products.

Chicago Grain Market.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—The events of the week in the produce market are the reports from California that rains have rendered the prospects of a good crop of wheat more flattering, and that recent investigations show that the Northwest has a stock very much less than at the same time last year. So the market is the difference in favor of last year, that millers of Minnesota are beginning to fear their mills cannot be kept running with their present stock. Prices opened strong, receded some what, but closed rather firm. THE RETAIL BANK, Limited.

THIS BANK CAN GIVE SATISFACTORY REFERENCES from leading men of Oregon, that whatever security is guaranteed to depositors through the Capital Stock being limited is vouchsafed to the public in our case in its fullest sense;

Other than the above we can only refer the people of Oregon for, reference to the fact that "we still live," and the further fact that according to the laws of Oregon, not only our bank assets (including office fixtures) are pledged for the payment of our liabilities, but every dollar of our private fortunes are liable to the bank creditors, and said private fortunes, too, are "limited." A friend suggests that our office fixtures are "limited" but he is trying to "bear" our credit, and we warn you against him.
